

Genetically Modified Organisms Statement

ARCACONTINENTAL

People want to know more about their food and what's in it. From sweeteners to preservatives to ingredients produced from genetically engineered organism (or GMOs), people want to know what's safe and what isn't.

At Arca Continental, the safety and quality of our ingredients and products matters. We are truly committed to the safety and quality of our products. GMOs traces can be found in some ingredients in our beverages or snacks, along with hundreds of other items in the grocery store. Many of the most influential health organizations and regulatory agencies have determined GMOs to be safe. There are no negative health effects associated with GMO use. Organizations like the World Health Organization, U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and U.S. National Academy of Sciences have evaluated GMOs and have found them safe.

Arca Continental commits to always adhere to the applicable laws and regulations regarding GMOs ingredients in each region where we operate and commercialize our products as well as fully adherence to the labeling requirements.
